BAD REPORT: Partridge Care Centre in Partridge Road, Harlow

Thug punches and spits in woman's face

A WOMAN was punched in the face and spat at by a thug who attempted to steal her mobile phone as she sat in her car.

The 30-year-old victim was parked in Primrose Field, Harlow, at about 11.15am on September 4 when her car was approached by two men.

One opened the passenger door and tried to take her phone. When the woman grabbed it he punched her in the face, spat at her and punched her again.

The two men then ran away in the direction of Southern Way.

The victim, who suffered an injury above her left eye, described the man who attacked her as Asian, aged about 20, 5ft 6in tall and of slim build. He had short hair and was wearing a cream Burberry cap.

The second man is described as black, 5ft 9in tall, slim and with black hair.

Call police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

MP: TAKE ACTION AT 'FAILING' CARE HOME

Call for changes after report finds scandal-hit centre 'inadequate'

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW care home at the centre of scandal four years ago after two residents died could be taken over or closed after inspectors found multiple failings.

An unannounced inspection by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) found the Partridge Care Centre, in Partridge Road, to be failing in all five key standards.

Stains

Inspectors found "dark brown stains" on wheelchairs and "stained and sticky" mattresses during a visit in July.

The health watchdog, which released its findings on Wednesday, said the centre was not pro-

The centre will be inspected again within six months, at which point the CQC says if insufficient improvements have been made to bring ratings above "inadequate", it will "take action in line with our enforcement procedures to begin the process of preventing the provider from operating the service".

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who called for the service to be overhauled in 2011, has demanded the existing management be removed and replaced.

Meeting

On Wednesday he held an urgent meeting with Minister of State for Care and Support, Alistair Burt, who has pledged to take the matter further.

"Enough is enough," he said. "It is unacceptable for residents, it's unacceptable for relatives and I believe Essex County Council

Jury can't reach verdict in rape trial of teenager

A TEENAGER accused of raping a 14-year-old girl in Harlow must wait to find out if he will face a retrial after a jury failed to reach a verdict.

Reece Bishop, 19, of Manor Road, Harlow, denied two rape charges over an alleged incident in a derelict garage on February 16.

After hearing three days of evidence, the jury at Chelmsford Crown Court retired to consider its verdict last Wednesday but after almost nine hours of deliberation they failed to reach an agreement.

On Friday, Judge Anthony Goldstrub gave the Crown Prosecution Service two weeks to decide how it wanted to proceed with the case.

Bishop was granted conditional bail until next Friday (September 25).

Ram-raiders smash through shop front with fork lift truck

Scene of devastation after gang steal cash machine

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GANG of ram-raiders smashed through the front of a village shop with a forklift truck and stole a cash machine in the early hours of yesterday (Wednesday).

The McColl's newsagent shop, in High Street, Roydon, was extensively damaged when the vehicle was driven through the front window.

It is believed four men were involved in the raid which happened at about 2am. Police are investigating reports some of them were carrying knives.

One resident living opposite the premises said: "There was a revving of an engine right outside our bedroom window.

"They hit the shop four or five times, picked up the cash machine and lifted it into the back of a pick-up truck and bolted up the High Street."

Other residents reported that a man attempted to confront the robbers but was forced to take cover behind a nearby van after one of the gang brandished a knife.

A man living in the flat above the shop said: "I was in bed at the time; it felt like an earthquake. I didn't want to look out of the window."

Police officers remained in the High Street until the following morning to direct traffic around the debris which was strewn across the road.

IN RUINS: The damage caused to the front of the shop by the truck

Some of the raiders arrived and left the scene in a white Kia Sportage car which, along with the pick-up truck, had been reported stolen. Both vehicles were found on a farm track on the outskirts of the village by police carrying out a search of the area.

The cash machine was found on the pick-up while the forklift, which had also been stolen, was abandoned in High Street.

Detective Inspector Greg Wood said: "An extensive search was started as soon as the first officers arrived on scene. Numerous members of the public called our control room to report what they had seen and this information was relayed to officers searching nearby and to units across the west of the county and in Hertfordshire.

"It seems the thieves had planned to hide the ATM, truck and car off a farm track but thanks to the information received from the public we were able to find the cash machine and vehicles before the suspects could return."

Police have appealed for anyone with information about the movements of the forklift, the pick-up or the car to contact detectives at Loughton CID on 101 or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Decision expected on minicab firm's office plan

PLANS by a cab firm to open a 24-hour minicab service office at Harlow Town station has sparked complaints from local residents.

A decision on the application submitted by Metro Cars was due to be made last night (Wednesday) at Harlow Council's development management committee. A report recommended members approve the plan subject to four conditions.

The company wants to open the office in half of a vacant unit at Mill Court but some residents and traders in the precinct opposite the station objected to the proposals, citing noise and disruption as reasons for refusal.

A petition signed by 72 people and six individual letters of objection were sent to the council, along two letters in support of the application.

In support of its proposal, Metro Cars said the technicalities of the application meant it had to take 16 of the 105 parking spaces available at Mill Court but only intended to use four.

When it lodged its application, a spokesman for the firm told the Star: "Metro Cars would like a bigger portion of business from picking up customers at the station, so that is why we are moving. We are currently picking people up from the station as it is so it won't make a big difference."

MP calls for action over inadequate care home

should go in and run the place." Mr Halfon called for an urgent inquiry into providers Rushcliffe Care Limited, which operates a further 23 homes across the country.

He said: "The CQC say enforcement actions should be taken within the next six months - this is far too long. The enforcement needs to begin now."

In August 2011, Partridge Care Centre was at the centre of a police inquiry after three people were taken to hospital with "diabetes-related problems".

Two women in their 80s died. Essex Police later dropped the investigation and said there was no evidence of "any relevant criminal offences".

Previously, Rushcliffe acknowledged there had been problems in the past, but claimed it had taken steps to make sure residents' "health and well-being are paramount".

Bruises

The CQC report calls for improvements at the home to its standards of treating people with care, treating people with respect and protecting them from harm. It also calls for improvements to staffing and management.

The report said its inspectors were told no investigation had been held into how one of the residents received 12 bruises and "skin tears".

Staff could not recall being trained into how to protect people against the risks of abuse but had signed training records to say they knew how to do so, inspectors found.

Mr Halfon added: "One final thing, without doubt I do believe that there are also good members of staff in Partridge Care home and I have met some over the years. This is not their fault."

Mr Halfon has asked for any resident with concerns to contact his office.

Daisy celebrates 102 years with dog Teddy

ANIMAL lover Daisy Staines was inundated with cards when she celebrated her 102nd birthday on Tuesday... and also enjoyed a visit from a four-legged visitor.

Daisy spent the day with fellow residents at Ashlyn Care Centre in Vicarage Wood, Harlow, and was delighted when she received a birthday visit from a dog called Teddy courtesy of the Pets as Therapy charity.

"I can't believe I'm 102," she said. "I had a lovely morning and it was so nice to see Teddy as I do love cats and dogs."

"It was also nice to receive so many cards."

Daisy, who was born in Tottenham on September 15, 1913, has a lifelong love of ballroom dancing and even today can be seen dancing along the corridors of the care home with the help of her frame.

She moved to Ashlyn in 2010 where she is popular resident and much-loved by members of staff.

Daisy had three brothers, all of whom have passed away. Her husband Fred, who she married in 1938, died in 1980. The couple had no children.

A spokesman for Ashlyn Care Centre said: "As Daisy has no family I asked all my friends to send her a card and she was over the moon."

"Our chef, Jim, decorated a lovely cake for her this morning."

"She is always happy."

Council services move in-house ready for cuts

Street cleaning and grass cutting funding under pressure

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A DECISION not to renew Kier Harlow's contract to provide housing repairs, street cleaning and grass cutting in Harlow will be made today.

Under proposals these services would be provided by a new Local Authority Trading Company (LATC) owned by Harlow Council.

The authority says the move will provide greater flexibility to allow them to prepare for future Government funding cuts.

Council leader Jon Clempner said: "This is absolutely, without doubt, the most cost-effective solution in the long term - to bring the services back in-house as a local authority trading company."

He added that funding cuts were a "significant worry" and conceded that it may be difficult to protect services in the future.

Cuts

"It has got to the point where local government is taking the brunt of central Government cuts," he said. "Something will have to give and bringing the work back in house will save money - we will be prepared for the future."

The move will also allow the council to plough any profits back into the service, and even bid for contracts elsewhere.

Kier currently provide a range of front-line services including housing repairs and maintenance, repairs to Council buildings, street cleaning, grass cutting, pest control, stray dog collection, repairs and maintenance to drainage, gullies and highways owned by Harlow Council.

A decision over the proposals is due to be made tonight at a meeting of the council's cabinet.

If agreed, all staff and assets will transfer to the LATC with the new company providing services from February 1, 2017 when the current contract expires.

The cost of the services are expected to be funded within existing budgets at no extra cost to taxpayers.

A statement from Harlow Council said: "Kier Harlow Ltd has been an important and successful partner for the council and it has made significant progress in the modernisation of work processes, investment in staff training and cultural change since 2007. The proposal aims to build on the good work which has taken place."

"An options appraisal carried out by the council included independent reports by consultants which have all been taken into account as part of looking at the best way of providing these services in the future."

If the proposals are approved by cabinet, the council will need to establish a LATC and this will be the subject of a separate report to the cabinet meeting in October 2015.

A new model for policing

SIR Without doubt the policing of the country is experiencing massive and historical changes as a result of financial restrictions that will never be reversed.

I can understand Cllr Jon Clempner's response to Essex Police realigned commitment to dealing with anti-social behaviour to protect Harlow Council's finances (Star, September 10), but I am sure other councils up and down the country are echoing the same. The changes affecting all of the police forces across the country are so drastic that a new model of policing will emerge, which not everyone will agree with.

Julia Wortley, the Assistant Chief Constable of Essex Police, alluded to other agencies taking more responsibility and active roles in the community to protect homes and property. We have those agencies already in place, a combination of professional and volunteer agencies. They just need to be brought together into a cohesive and responsible entity.

In my role in Harlow Neighbourhood Watch I often tell people that our emergency services haven't changed their commitment to serving members of the public. But the perception still exists that when 999 is dialled there is an expectation of the police, ambulance or fire service responding in the blink of an eye.

Ever since the Bow Street Runners our emergency services have been shared by the community they serve. The effect of shifting social dynamics with financial constraints while trying to achieve the status quo that we have enjoyed for some many decades is the real challenge everyone is facing.

A new model of policing will emerge and the process has already begun. Whether we have a national and then regional forces similar to other countries, such as the USA, the onus will fall to local councils to harness local resources and to manage them. That is the future challenge for local councils and Cllr Clempner should see it in that perspective.

Paul Wadley, secretary
Harlow Neighbourhood Watch
St Andrew's Meadow, Harlow

Don't gamble with education

SIR Over the past couple of weeks our Harlow schools have been welcoming students back from their summer breaks. The many successes of 2014-15 quickly dissected and new targets speedily put in place for 2015-16.

Without doubt our teachers, students and support staff will be stretched to their limits again as they strive for academic success... and hopefully gain some enjoyment from their lives in Harlow schools too.

As parents reflect on the summer, they may well have to take children to doctors, dentists or opticians. It is very likely that they are qualified doctors, qualified dentists and qualified opticians. Few would risk their children's health with unqualified practitioners.

So as parents send their children back to school they should consider whether they should trust anyone apart from qualified (or qualifying) teachers with their children's education.

Current education policy, supported by Harlow MP Robert Halfon allows schools and academies to cut costs by employing unqualified teachers to teach your children. You would not accept this from other professionals, do not accept it in your schools.

Murray Sackwild, general secretary
Harlow+Epping Forest NUT

Zero security and little hope

SIR According to the latest research by a leading recruitment website, one in four jobs being offered to the unemployed is a zero hours contract.

These contracts give no guarantee of work which means you do not know when or for how long you may be working from week to week. Consequently, you have no assured level of income, no security, no discernible future and little hope.

The research also found that nearly half those offered such contracts turned them down simply because they did not trust the employers offering them, despite fears that jobcentres could wrongfully withdraw benefits if they did so.

Welcome to the world of the zero hours contract. You have to pinch yourself to make sure you haven't been time-warped back to the Britain of Charles Dickens. What a sad reflection on the 21st century workplace.

After some important improvements to the conditions relating to the contracts were pushed through by the Liberal Democrats during the term of the Coalition Government, the topic has been quietly dropped from the agenda of the present Government.

Recently in the Star Robert Halfon was reciting the laughable suggestion that the Conservative Party should be rebranded The Workers Party. I have what I think is a better suggestion - surely a much more appropriate appellation would be The Zero Hours Contract Workers Party. That says it all.

David Ives
Bishopsfield, Harlow

Stroke plan is way forward

SIR I would like to add my support to West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group's proposal to work in collaboration with Queen's Hospital in Romford to provide acute care for victims of strokes.

The current unit based in Romford has an excellent reputation and will provide dedicated care for Harlow residents who sadly suffer a stroke. We are aware of the wonderful care and compassion they provide to patients and relatives.

This is a traumatic time but with the specialist skills and knowledge they provide life-saving choices. I'm sure we will have clear pathways of care to enable local residents to return to Harlow for follow-up care and treatment.

The current staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital already work closely with their colleagues at Romford. This proposal is right as it is based on quality outcomes and not just on location.

In Harlow we already have many successful partnerships with other NHS trusts and we have to accept that not all acute specialist services can be provided in each general hospital. All decisions should be purely based on the best interests of the patient and this proposal meets that criteria.

Aftercare is just as critical as acute care and I am confident that they will develop seamless treatments that give the best choices to local residents.

This proposal does raise other issues and other concerns.

Both PAH and the CCG need to start a discussion over the long-term suitability and sustainability of the current hospital site. We need a forward plan to ensure Harlow has a hospital that can and must meet the needs of the growing and ageing population.

Tony Durcan
Rundells, Harlow

Thanks for all the donations

SIR We would like to thank customers in Harlow who have helped raise £74,225 for international charity WaterAid through Affinity Water's fundraising appeal over the past year.

This amount is enough to help 4,948 people access safe, clean water in some of the world's poorest communities. Since 1992 this fundraising appeal has raised over £9.2m.

As well as raising funds, Affinity Water supports WaterAid through awareness-raising campaigns, engaging their local MPs, participating in WaterAid's Big History Project and speaking to local schools and community groups about WaterAid's work.

We are very proud of our long-standing partnership with WaterAid. The enthusiasm and commitment of our people and Star readers ensure that we continue to do our part to help WaterAid's work around the world and make a real difference to people in some of the world's poorest communities.

Every hour last year WaterAid reached over 220 people with safe water and 350 with improved sanitation.

WaterAid was set up by the UK water industry in 1981 before becoming an independent charity and today the water industry remains at the heart of the charity. Water companies, as well as many of their contractors and suppliers, continue to provide vital support to help WaterAid improve access to safe water and sanitation across the world.

Couple banned after row over filming in Asda

Told it was 'against the law' to record staff

William Mata

A COUPLE banned from a supermarket claim it was because videos they filmed in store were posted online in a protest over standards of customer service.

Scott Daly, 47, of Westfield, Harlow, decided to record the treatment he and his wheelchair-bound wife Debi, 52, experienced at Asda. They were angry and frustrated at what they considered the "unacceptable" level of provision for the disabled.

The couple said that every time they visited the store in The Water Gardens they were forced to wait about 20 minutes for a member of staff to unlock one of the specially-adapted shopping trolleys.

Wheelchair

Mrs Daly has to use a wheelchair while she recovers from temporary locked-in syndrome which, for a period of nearly two weeks, left her only able to move her eyes.

The store keeps the trolleys locked up and disabled customers are required to ask a member of staff to unlock them.

"The treatment we received was disgusting," said Mr Daly, who acts as a full-time carer for his wife. "They did not make us feel like people."

BANNED: Scott and Debi Daly, who have been told not to return to the Asda store in The Water Gardens, inset

"We were made to wait [a total of] 50 minutes for the trolley to be unlocked during four visits to Asda, which was very frustrating."

"On the first occasion staff could not find anyone with a key to unlock a trolley," he said. "We waited for 20 minutes before anything was done and we were told to ask security to assist us next time we came."

"Three days later I asked the security man for someone to get us a key but when nothing happened for five or 10 minutes I asked to see the manager. He came and was able to sort it out. He gave us a £5 voucher for the trouble but I still thought it unacceptable."

On their next visit to the store Mr Daly attached a camera to his wife's wheelchair so he could film what happened and then uploaded the video to YouTube. It was when they returned to film for a second time they were told they were banned from the shop.

In the footage, which Mr Daly titled 'Disabled in Harlow 2', a member of staff is seen with the adapted trolley before a manager tells the couple: "I am afraid you won't be needing that today because we are going to ban you from shopping in our store for recording our colleagues."

Mr Daly is also told it was "against the law to record our colleagues" and advised him to shop at Tesco instead.

The video has since been viewed more than 300 times.

"We try to keep active to help fight depression but the situation is made worse when you are treated like this," said Mr Daly. "He did not even acknowledge my wife when he told us we were banned, which was rude."

"We've started going to Tesco at Church Langley where we just pick a trolley up at the door and start shopping."

Behaviour

An Asda spokeswoman said: "Mr Daly was not banned for filming inside the store but because of his behaviour towards our colleagues. Unfortunately we had to agree that Mr Daly's actions meant he would not be allowed in the store any more."

"It was not a decision taken lightly but in the interests of our staff we decided Mr Daly's behaviour could not be tolerated."

Despite the ban, Mr Daly believes his stand has been worthwhile as he has since been told that all members of staff have been given a key to unlock the adapted trolleys.

Shop owner 'heartbroken' after break-in

THE owner of a shop in Harlow town centre has spoken of her devastation after finding burglars had broken into her family-run business.

A laptop, a bike, around £500 and a quantity of products were taken from supplement and health food shop Nutricastle, in West Gate.

The break-in happened between 8pm on Saturday and 9am on Sunday.

"It has left me heartbroken," said owner Viola Pietrzak, 29. "It is a family business and I've put so much heart into it. It has become like a home."

Miss Pietrzak, who opened the business 18 months ago, said the burglars gained access to the premises by kicking down or smashing through the front door.

"We are trading normally as I cannot afford to shut the shop," said Miss Pietrzak. "We have rent to pay. We've had incidents before but nothing as serious as this."

Anyone with information about the break-in should contact Harlow police on the non-emergency 101 number.

New treatment will be available at PAH

Prostate cancer patients to benefit from ultrasound

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A NEW treatment for men with localised prostate cancer is to be made available at the Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow.

High Intensity Focused Ultrasound (HIFU) will be available to patients at the Hamstel Road hospital for its first use outside of London.

The treatment is less invasive than traditional surgical procedures and reduces the number of side effects.

"I am delighted that I am now able to offer this new treatment for prostate cancer in the UK on the NHS," said PAH Consultant Urological Surgeon Manjit Arya.

Mr Arya added: "For those patients for whom HIFU is suitable, it is a real breakthrough as it avoids the often life changing side effects resulting from surgical treatment."

Prostate cancer affects a huge proportion of the population with around one in eight men being diagnosed with the disease at some stage in their life, according to the charity Prostate Cancer UK.

The traditional method of treating this disease has been to remove the whole gland in a procedure called a radical prostatectomy.

OPTIONS: The new treatment will be available for the first time at Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow

This procedure leads to a huge amount of uncomfortable side effects such as infertility, incontinence and loss of libido.

Historically the reason for this method of treatment was because the technology was not available to catch the cancer before it spread too far.

Now diagnostic methods have advanced to such a stage that doctors can diagnose prostate cancer before it affects the whole gland.

In these situations advanced methods of focal treatment can remove just the cancerous part of the gland and leave the rest intact, this dramatically reduces the chance of unpleasant side effects as well as the speed of recovery. One of the two versions of prostate focal treatment is HIFU.

Mr Arya added: "We do need to raise awareness of the welcome benefits of HIFU though and I urge those patients requiring treatment to make sure they discuss it as an option in their treatment."

"It may not be suitable for all, but if it is, these patients will have a quicker recovery and avoid having to live with distressing side effects."

The usually pathway for a patient with prostate cancer is a regular blood test to check the patients PSA levels, this is a common marker for suspected prostate cancer.

If the patient's GP believes that the results show potential cancer they will refer the patient to a urologist. The urologist then conducts a biopsy to assess any risk and how serious it is.

If treatment is required, the Urologist will discuss the available treatment options.

Please welcome our new nursing staff to the town

IT has been a very busy winter followed by an equally busy summer, with no let-up in the number of people coming to the trust.

Our most difficult task has been recruiting extra nursing staff. So we have been trying to encourage local people who may work in London – or further afield – to come 'Home to Harlow' to make a difference in their local community.

If you know anyone who may be interested in working at the trust again, please tell them to get in touch via communications@pah.nhs.uk as we would gladly welcome them back with open arms.

Just as importantly, we will shortly be welcoming nurses from India and Europe to their first jobs in the NHS.

We would really appreciate it if you see them around the town, that you welcome them and ensure they find a 'Home in Harlow'.

It is never too early to plan for winter; we are already getting prepared for the weather, flu, norovirus and anything else that may happen.

by Phil Morley

On a really positive note, we are planning a special carol service at a local church in Harlow as we want to celebrate during the festive season all the fantastic things our staff do for those that have a 'Home in Harlow'.

We would be delighted if you and your friends and family could join us, so keep an eye out for further details which will be coming soon.

Lastly, there will be many patients who will spend their Christmas in hospital, some will have visitors, but sadly some will have no friends or family to speak of, so if you have any spare time to bring a little festive cheer, please get in touch and help us make a real 'Home in Harlow' for all our patients.

Public invited to trust AGM

THE Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust will hold its annual meeting next week.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will focus on the challenges and achievements of the past year and the trust's goals moving forward.

It will be held in the lecture theatre at Parndon Hall on Wednesday (September 23) at 3.30pm. For more information call (01279) 827295.

BLACKSPOTS: Latest figures show increase in the number of accidents involving bicycles

Cyclists face a greater risk on Harlow roads

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexesnews.co.uk

ROADS in Harlow are increasingly dangerous for cyclists with more injuries recorded now than a decade ago, according to newly released figures.

Statistics, released by Essex County Council from January 2004 to December 2014, show three deaths, 30 serious injuries and 141 slight injuries to bicycle riders have occurred on Harlow roads.

Despite cycle safety incentives, such as Bikeability, the number of cycling injuries rose from 60 in the first part of the decade to 81 from 2009 onwards. Two of the three fatalities were recorded since 2012.

A County Hall spokesman said the rise was due to a greater number of cyclists and said riders should wear safety gear and "be aware of their surroundings".

But cyclists in Harlow say their safety is at risk on the town's roads. "It's not a safe place to cycle," said Dave Sherry, 38, of Milwards, Harlow, who records his travels by bike on his helmet camera.

Dubbed 'Britain's most hated cyclist', Mr Sherry's vigilante videos have shamed and secured convictions for poor standards of driving.

Fact file

- Harlow has 30 miles of cycle track around the town
- Southern Way's junction with Tawney's Road is the most dangerous stretch to ride a bike in Harlow
- Three cyclists have been killed on Harlow's roads since January 2004
- Gilden Way and Elizabeth Way, where fatal crashes occurred, have respective speed limits of 60mph and 50mph
- Southern Way was the road with the most incidents

He said the bad habits of drivers and a speed limit which is too high are at the root of the town's problems.

"Cyclists are safe within the cycle paths, but my main concerns are about the roads off the M11 where I've seen many drivers on mobile phones.

"I do believe the speed limits across much of the town should be lowered from 40mph to 30mph."

The ECC statistics also identify accident blackspots, with the junction of Southern Way and Tawney's Road being the most hazardous with three severe and eight slight-injury accidents in a decade.

The area where First Avenue meets Howards Way saw two serious and seven slight-injury accidents while the area where Haydens Road meets Fourth Avenue roundabout had three serious and four slight injuries recorded.

Other dangerous roads include Gilden Way, Elizabeth Way and Peldon Road, where all three fatal accidents occurred.

John Curry, a long-time cyclist in Harlow, said the high number of injuries was the result of high speed limits, poor street lighting, unsafe crossings, hazardous 'cluster' areas, links of cycle paths being missing and cycling not being a priority of the county council or Harlow Council.

"Speed limits are too high in Gilden Way and Third Avenue at 60mph and in Elizabeth Way at 50mph," said Mr Curry.

"There is no place for such (high) speed limits within the boundary of Harlow, 40mph should be the maximum.

"Incidents also took place during the hours of darkness and while I find Elizabeth Way okay during the day - it is not so easy at night."

Mr Curry said the most hazardous section of the town are the roads leading from the M11 junction 7 which he identified to have inadequate crossings.

"It comes as no surprise to me that Bush Fair, Southern Way and the First Avenue clusters are the prominent locations for accidents," he added.

"This area is probably worse than The Stow. When the cycle path was built to accommodate the new Passmoors Academy, a lot of opportunities were missed to things properly.

"The situation is now being made worse by the construction of the roundabout at the junction of Southern Way and Tawney's Road."

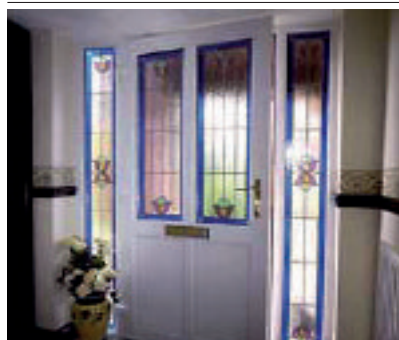

A County Hall spokesman played down the relevance of the statistics and said any rise in injuries was in-line with what they expected.

"These figures should be seen in context following the increased popularity of cycling in recent years and the subsequent increase in cyclists on our roads.

"An increase in cyclist casualties does not necessarily reflect increased risks for people travelling by bicycle.

"We would encourage cyclists to wear appropriate safety gear and to be aware of their surroundings."

SMALL FIND: Emma Eddison, Amy Greenwood and Danny Campbell, make the discovery

Neighbours are a little distracting

PUPILS were surprised to find characters from The Borrowers had moved in over the summer.

A tiny door, footprints and miniature belongings had all mysteriously appeared at Little Pardon Primary School in Park Mead, Harlow.

An emergency school assembly was organised after members of the breakfast club made the discovery – leading to the area being cordoned off.

Headteacher Sophie Laing told pupils: "A tiny note had been left on my desk along with a video message we have been asked to watch."

She then pressed the play button and the children watched a short message filmed by the father of The Borrowers family appealing for help in replacing items lost when they fled their last home.

Inspiration from the day will be used to fuel report writing, art and maths over the coming days and weeks.

Students visit Large Hadron Collider on Swiss break

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BUDDING scientists visited the CERN laboratory in Geneva during a school trip to Switzerland during the summer holidays.

Students entering Years 10 and 11 from Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, visited the laboratory to see scientific research in action.

CERN, the European Organisation for Nuclear Research, is one of the world's largest and most respected centres for scientific research. It is responsible for building and running the Large Hadron Collider for use in the search for the Higgs Boson particle.

As well as visiting the laboratory, the Burnt Mill students were taken to an ICT museum and took the opportunity to learn about Swiss culture.

Explained

Paul Andrew, lead practitioner at Burnt Mill, said: "The students got to meet with a scientist who explained to them all about CERN, what goes on there and how it works.

"They went on a tour and various engineers spoke to them about their roles, the issues they face and what inventions have come out of CERN, such as the MRI scanner, the internet and touch screen development.

"This will help the students to make more sense of their science lessons in future."

WELL DONE: The High Sheriff of Essex, Vincent Thompson, and head teacher Elaine Heaphy with award-winning pupils Katie Evans, Alfie Dollard, Dillon Osei, and Charlotte Brough

High praise for pupils' hard work

THE High Sheriff of Essex was the guest of honour when a Harlow secondary school celebrated the achievements of its pupils.

St Mark's West Essex Catholic School, in Trypton Road, welcomed Vincent Thompson who presented certificates of excellence to Year 7 and Year 8 students.

The ceremony was also an opportunity for pupils to showcase their talents as dancers, artists, musicians and singers as they staged a variety performance which entertained the audience of their fellow students, teachers, governors and friends of the school.

E-fit image of conman who tried to trick elderly woman

A CONMAN who called at the home of a Harlow pensioner and tried to trick her into handing over money is being sought by police.

The incident happened two months ago but police have now been able to release an e-fit image of the suspect.

The man called at the home of the elderly woman in The Hornbeams, Harlow, at around 3pm on July 15, telling her he was working for a company on behalf of the council and said he needed to check her drains.

He was allowed into the property and attempted to open the drain cover without success.

He left the property but telephoned the pensioner the following day and attempted to persuade her to pay him in advance for work which he said he would carry out. The woman refused his request and alerted police.

Anyone who recognises the man in the e-fit image is asked contact PC Paul Marks at Harlow police station on the non-emergency 101 number or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Fitness fundraisers take coast-to-coast challenge in their stride

A TEAM of more than 30 people from the Motability offices in Harlow completed a 230-mile challenge on Friday to raise funds for the charity – and all without leaving their workplace.

They were among 150 taking part in a coast-to-coast fundraiser involving the use of exercise bikes and treadmills.

The challenge was held at various offices around the country, including Roydon Road, with the aim of raising £10,000 to support disabled people with their personal mobility.

It was part of an overall challenge which saw staff from the charity and its scheme partners covering a total of 1,150 miles – the furthest distance between Motability Scheme customers.

They covered the equivalent distance from Unst on the Shetland Islands to St Clement in Jersey via Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man.

The 1,150-mile target was split between teams from Motability, Motability Operations, RSA Motability, Europcar, Kwik Fit and RAC, with staff at each office allocated a set distance to travel in eight hours.

Aine Canavan, corporate accounts and events executive for Motability, said: "We are proud to organise events like the coast-to-coast challenge so colleagues can raise money for customers who cannot afford the car, adaptation or driving lessons they need to stay mobile."

Young people given the chance to have their say

Students encouraged to take part in Save Harlow Town Centre campaign

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOUNG people have been asked for their ideas for the future of Harlow town centre as part of a campaign to revive the area.

Save Harlow Town Centre hopes to breathe life back into the area by working with the council, residents and businesses.

Spearheaded by Harlow Conservatives, the campaign calls for regeneration of the town centre to be a priority which is supported by all political parties.

Pupils at schools across the town are this week being encouraged to complete the campaign's online survey.

Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson said: "Too often the view of young people is overlooked and I was very keen to have a separate school's consultation to ensure the thoughts of Harlow's youngest residents was heard loud and clear."

"They are the future workers, homeowners and business leaders of tomorrow. What they think today is crucial."

IN NEED: Market Square in Harlow is one area where improvements could be made

"I have written to every headteacher in the town and asked them to encourage young people and their families to take part in the survey and tell us what they think. This is a great opportunity for young people to have their say on the future of Harlow Town Centre."

The survey, which was launched in August and runs until the end of next month, has attracted more than 150 responses.

Later this week Cllr Johnson will present council leader Jon Clempner with his proposals for moving forward.

Cllr Clempner, who has already set aside a £1m for town centre improvements, has expressed his support for the campaign.

Cllr Johnson added: "I have sent him (Cllr Clempner) our proposals and a request to meet with him immediately to discuss our proposals so that we can have a proposal ready hopefully to bring jointly to full council on October 22.

"There is a great deal of momentum surrounding the SHTC campaign and we must ensure that is not lost by people dragging their feet. The public rightly expect results and it's time to get on and begin the job."

Residents can pledge their support by following @SaveHTC on Twitter or by searching Save Harlow Town Centre on Facebook.

County seeking new deal in Whitehall breakaway

Councils write to Government demanding greater devolved powers

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCILS across Essex have submitted a joint bid to the Government setting out their ambition for devolved powers.

All 14 district and unitary authorities, along with Essex County Council, have signed a letter addressed to the Chancellor of the Exchequer George Osborne and Greg Clark, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, which could see a deal in place in the new year.

County council leader David Finch said: "For too long the decisions that impact on the needs and aspirations of the people and businesses in Essex have been taken in Whitehall.

"With our local knowledge and democratic accountability, we can do better. Our ambition is for Greater Essex to become the fastest growing UK economy outside London, delivering the opportunity of a high-quality standard of living for our residents, with increased and accelerated local and national dividends that are re-invested into world-class public services and infrastructure."

He said the bid provided the county with an opportunity to become an economic powerhouse, while collectively having a greater say on the issues that matter to all Essex residents.

He added: "The aims we have set out are ambitious but achievable, and are underpinned by a new approach to investment

AMBITIOUS:
Cllr David Finch

that will enable us to become increasingly self-sufficient of government grants."

The bid also outlines how the powers would be governed, with a 'combined authority' running alongside economic growth boards.

Councillor Jon Clempner, leader of Harlow Council, said any devolution deal would have to serve the needs of Harlow and must deliver better outcomes for the town's residents and businesses.

"The possible benefit for Harlow is that the council could have more influence and control on new funds and decisions than before, especially on decisions that affect roads, transport, skills and further education and economic growth."

He added: "There is still work to be done and the benefits to Harlow fully worked out. This will be debated by the council before any decisions are made."

According to Nicola Beach, chief executive of Braintree District Council, and chairman of Essex Chief Executives' Association, the combined authority would be made up of representatives from each council but run as a separate entity to them.

She said: "Given the diverse nature of the Greater Essex economies, it is important we have an approach that supports our natural economic markets, whether they are rural, coastal, the Thames Gateway, commuter belt or part of the London-Cambridge corridor."

Further detail on how the councils plan to implement the process is due to be revealed in the coming weeks, and, if successful, a legally binding agreement could be in place in early 2016.

Devolution: How Essex will benefit

ESSEX County Council's bid sets out how, by working together, with increased freedoms and flexibilities from government, Greater Essex can:

■ Create the fastest growing economy outside London, increasing economic output from £32.5bn to £60bn and increasing exports by 100 per cent

■ Meet the housing needs set out within local plans, with greater quality and reliability of delivery

■ Develop key transport hubs such as London Stansted, Southend Airport and port clusters in the north and south of Essex

■ Create a new infrastructure fund working alongside housing and economic growth strategies, so that wherever possible infrastructure is in place before new development

■ Increase by 20 per cent the number of higher apprenticeships completed, focussing on growth sectors such as aviation, logistics, and medical technologies

■ Enter into a gainshare agreement with government in which additional revenues generated through local growth would be shared between local and national partners, helping pay for infrastructure and services

Making town safer and cleaner is a joint effort

Council urges residents to do their bit during week of action

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

COMMUNITY groups, Harlow Council and the Safer Harlow Partnership have been working together to highlight the work that is being done to make the town cleaner and safer.

The Community Week of Action involved a range of activities including the opening of empty garages being used for illegal storage, checks on cannabis use in properties, raising awareness of the cost and impact of flytipped garden waste and littering; and welfare checks on horses.

Each year the authority is forced to spend close to £2m of taxpayers' money keeping the streets and parks clean, including clearing fly-tipped green waste.

Dumped garden waste can block ditches and cause flooding. It can also damage animal habitats and trees, and when it rots it can smell.

On Friday, Harlow Council built a mound of garden waste collected in one day at Latton Farm, where it is recycled, to highlight the impact of flytipping.

The waste was collected from Ram Gorse, Peldon Road, Felmongers Park, Abbotswood, Guilfords, Park Hill, Broadway Avenue, Rundells and Spruce Hill.

Councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "The week of action concentrated on specific activities to make Harlow safer and cleaner, but the work doesn't stop there.

"The council and its partners do work like this all year round and we are planning further action days and events.

"We also need more residents to do their bit too and answer our call to get involved in improving Harlow and alerting us to issues which need our attention."

A joint operation investigating empty garages between Harlow Council and the Neighbourhood Policing Team also took place.

All empty and insecure garages within Brockles Mead, Long Banks, Kingsland, Bishopsfield, Nicholls Field and Altham Grove were checked.

Although no stolen goods were found, numerous fly-tips were located and the garages secured. Hazardous waste was found in one garage and immediate clearance took place.

Three garages contained evidence of rough sleepers and follow up visits by the Community Safety Team and the police will take place.

As part of the week of action, licensing officers also carried out stop checks on Friday night and Saturday morning to licensed premises.

They checked that pubs and clubs were operating within their licence conditions, checked that taxi drivers were operating in accordance with their conditions and discussed with trade representatives what difficulties they faced when working late.

A spokesman for the council said: "We found one pub was not operating in accordance with licence conditions; we shall take appropriate and proportionate enforcement action."

■ Belvoir homes lettings agency, 40

High Street, Old Harlow, from 10am-3pm. The office will be decorated in Macmillan green and all members of staff will be wearing Macmillan T-shirts. As well as coffee there will be a good selection of homemade cakes available.

■ St John's ARC, in St John's Walk, Old Harlow, from 10am-midday. There will also be stall selling goods from Body Shop, Happy Hands Pottery, Tiny Trends and Forever Living.

■ Albert English Funeral Directors, The Stow, Harlow, from 10am until 1pm.

In addition, St Marks West Essex Catholic School, in Tripton Road, Harlow, will be hosting a coffee morning for all members of staff and sixth formers.

If you're having a coffee morning, email star@hertsexnews.co.uk

Out of Focus

A GREY Ford Focus was stolen from Bishopsfield in Harlow.

Police are appealing for information about the vehicle – registration number WJ60YDN – which was taken overnight between Friday, September 11 and Saturday, September 12.

Anyone who knows where the car is should call Harlow police on 101.

FLEEING PERSECUTION: A group of Syrian refugees arrive at the Greek island of Kos. Right, Labour Euro MP Richard Howitt, who took part in a candlelit vigil at the European Parliament to remember those who died

MEP fury at response to refugee plan

Howitt slams 'heartless' political opponents

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

LABOUR Euro MP and former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt has branded the region's Conservative and Ukip MEPs "heartless" in their response to the migrant crisis.

Speaking after a vote in the European Parliament in which he was the only one of the East of England's seven MEPs to support proposals to relocate 40,000 asylum seekers, Mr Howitt said Prime Minister David Cameron should opt in to the European plan so help is provided to those most at risk.

He argued UK participation would help ensure all EU countries contributed a fair share to the response.

And he accused his political opponents of trying to divert attention from what he described as their "shocking failure" by attacking him for supporting voting rights for refugees who become permanent residents.

"I have been touched by the generosity of local groups who have been part of a wave of public support to raise funds to help the refugees and to be open to more asylum seekers being received here in Britain," he said.

"For fellow MEPs to vote against the plan on the table and seek to create a false storm on a different question to hide their actions is a callous form of politics and out of step with the public mood."

Mr Howitt said the Prime Minister's offer to accept 20,000 Syrian refugees over five years was unacceptable as it would mean people will be left in danger now, while its refusal to join a pan-European scheme would be used by other countries as an excuse not to do so either.

He added: "As for the contemptible personal attack against myself, I stand by my conviction that Britain should be welcoming those who have escaped being gassed to death in Syria or experienced butchery in Sudan. Once they are here and permanently settled they are as deserving of the vote as anyone born in Britain."

"The right wing parties are only interested in cutting Britain off from Europe, when the scale of this crisis demonstrates how working together is essential to any chance of success."

Bishop launches public appeal for donations to help Syrian migrants

AN appeal fund to help support Syrian refugee families has been launched by the Bishop of Chelmsford.

The Rt Rev Stephen Cotterell is calling on people throughout the diocese, which includes Harlow, to donate cash, pray for peace in the Middle East and give a "heartfelt and generous welcome to those fleeing persecution and who come to us in great need".

The diocese has already announced it will be making some of its own houses available to refugee families, with three properties and a closed church already identified for possible use.

"To give without any expectation of getting anything back, save the joy of being blessed by service, is fundamental to the Christian life,"

APPEAL: The Rt Rev Stephen Cotterell

said Bishop Stephen. In the Diocese of Chelmsford we are convinced that as we respond in loving service and compassion to the vast humanitarian crisis in Syria so we have an opportunity to live out what we believe."

He added: "We also recognise that by our response to this situation we can be changed for the better. We can't do everything, but we can do something and this something can make a difference."

■ To donate to the Bishop's appeal, text CDBF14 followed by an amount of £1, £2, £3, £4, £5 or £10 to 70070, or send a cheque payable to CDBF with 'Refugee Appeal' on the reverse to Refugee Appeal, 53 New Street, Chelmsford, Essex CM1 1AT.

Schools to expand as pressure grows for primary places

County council plans to spend £3.2m on increasing capacity

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

EDUCATION chiefs have unveiled plans to increase the capacity at two primary schools to meet demand for pupil places.

Both Pear Tree Mead Academy in Harlow and St Andrew's Primary School at North Weald will be able to accommodate an extra 105 pupils if the proposals are given the green light.

A consultation event was held at Pear Tree Mead Academy on Tuesday during which parents and the public were given a chance to see what is proposed.

The £1.7m scheme would see the construction of an extension to hold four new classrooms, a library and group rooms. Improvements to existing classrooms and work to link the nursery and primary parts of the school together are also included in the plan.

Headteacher Christine Peden said: "We are really pleased to be able to offer more children places at Pear Tree Mead Academy. We are excited about the proposed building work and the joining of the infant and junior sites."

The plan for St Andrew's Primary is to build a new infant block to encompass two reception and two Year 1 class-

WHAT'S NEW?
Headteacher Christine Peden, second left, explains the plans for the expansion of Pear Tree Mead Academy during Tuesday's public consultation event rooms. In addition, an existing reception classroom will be converted to form a new classroom for pupils at Key Stage One the school hall will be extended and other classrooms re-modelled.

According to the county council the cost of the work will be £1.5m. A public consultation event is being held today (Thursday) from 3-7pm.

Headteacher Julie Lorkins said: "As our school grows in popularity amongst parents, the proposed expansion is an exciting opportunity for us to develop a learning environment fit for the 21st century and to meet the needs of the children in our North Weald community."

Full details of the plans and a questionnaire are available at www.essex-insight.org.uk.

The consultation process ends on Monday. If the plans are approved, it is hoped work at both sites will begin in January and be finished in time for the start of the new school year in September.

GRATEFUL: Marilyn Taylor and her husband John with Hospice at Home nursing assistants Vicky Dymock and Maria Grazia

Cancer patient's love of painting helping to raise funds for hospice

A FORMER teacher who has benefited from the support services of St Clare Hospice has donated a range of cards featuring her original artwork to raise money for the care it provides.

Marilyn Taylor painted the set of botanical watercolours to generate vital funds for the Hastingwood-based charity so that other people can receive the services she was offered after being diagnosed with endometrial cancer in May last year.

Marilyn, who lives in Epping, said: "I thought I was going to St Clare to die because I was so weak. But the way St Clare cares for people is an eye-opener. It literally gave me back my life, my sense of self and my independence."

When Marilyn, who has two sons, was first admitted to the hospice's inpatient unit she said she felt "totally helpless" but gradually she was able to regain enough strength to go home.

"I thought that was the end of my journey," she said. "When I was first transferred to the inpatient unit I didn't think I'd ever go home again but right from the start the staff and volunteers gave me so much encouragement in so many ways."

The hospice put measures in place to support her return home, arranging for equipment to be installed and visits by its Hospice at Home team.

"Last October I took up an art class and began a series of botanical paintings," she said. "After the care I received, I want to give something back to St Clare so I've donated the cards featuring some of my paintings to raise money so that other people can receive the phenomenal support that St Clare Hospice provides absolutely free of charge to those that need it."

Marilyn's cards come in four designs in packs of eight. They are available for a suggested minimum donation of £3 per pack or £5 for two packs from all eight of the St Clare Hospice shops as well as from the hospice reception.

New set of record breakers

ON YOUR MARKS: Bertie the tortoise travelling at a speed 0.28 metres per second (0.6mph) to earn a place in the new Guinness World Records, above

WHAT have Bertie the tortoise, a woman with a collection of more than 2,000 garden gnomes and a dog that catches balls in his paws got in common?

The answer is that they are three of the new entries in the latest edition of the Guinness World Records which has just been published. Among the other new entries are:

■ A gardener who grew a carrot which weighed 20lb 1oz.

■ A 20-year-old man whose 40.1cm-long feet (1ft 3.79ins) are the largest feet on a living person

■ A 101-year-old woman who has become the world's oldest abseiler

■ A man who balanced a Mini car on his head

■ A rabbit with the longest fur

■ A German who set a world record of 17.65 seconds for running 100 metres in a pair of ski boots.

The book's editor-in-chief, Craig Glenday, said: "By providing a mix of the newest, most amazing records and a splash of the classic titles readers know and love, the 2016 edition is a great cross-section of humanity's greatest accomplishments."

PUNK ROCK

Victoria Hall Theatre, Bury Road, Old Harlow
Wednesday, September 16 - Saturday, September 19 (8pm) £10 (£7.50 concessions)

Harlow Theatre Company presents Punk Rock, an edgy play about a small group of sixth formers revising for their A-levels at a private grammar school. Stephens' classic character inventions, including the unworldly Nicholas and enigmatic new girl Lily, make for some hilarious viewing as they love, lust, argue, threaten and bully. Jane Miles director of the recent successes of As You Like It and Jerusalem, has gathered a talented cast of local young actors who bring a vibrant energy to the production.

BLAKE

Harlow Playhouse
Thursday, September 17 (7.30pm) £20-£23

The Brit Award-winners return with a new album and new songs. Fresh from tours to the USA, Russia, Korea and China, they are celebrating eight years of touring with their outstanding vocal mix of classical, pop, rock and musicals.

SUPREME QUEEN

Harlow Playhouse
Friday, September 18 (7.30pm) £18-£21

Having performed at major theatres, concert halls and festivals throughout the UK, Europe and Asia over the past 20 years, Supreme Queen head for Harlow with their tribute to the world's most theatrical and dramatic rock band.

FOREVER JACKSON

Harlow Playhouse
Saturday, September 19 (7.30pm) £20-£25

Robin Parsons and Hip Hop Pop re-ignite the magic of Michael Jackson in a production that's bigger and better than ever. This electrifying show exudes originality and visual extravagance and features a set list which will delight Jackson fans of all ages.

'Characters' on tour

ACCORDING to road signs, Harlow is celebrated as the birthplace of fibre optics and the hometown of comedian Rik Mayall.

But, a new performance is showing that a town really belongs to its people and above all its eccentrics.

As part of Harlow Playhouse series Out and About, Funny Peculiar is a unique production that takes place around the town centre through a guided tour.

Five performances over three days invite an audience to join guides Leslie and Lesley, who will lead a group through Harlow to show the town in a way it has never been seen before.

Fantastic anecdotes will line the play which will bring a new colour to the town, and life-long residents may never look at the West Gate and Market Square in the same way again after the tour.

"We are gathering a picture of Harlow's eccentric characters," said Simon Spencer-Hyde, who has been researching the town in preparation.

"Eccentrics are often shunned or outcast, but this production is about making them feel valued as an important member of society.

"A good example is Tiger Man, who many of the people we've spoken to have mentioned. This is a man who wears a beret and parades about the town trying to scare off any tigers.

"Tiger Man is just the kind of character that a town needs and should be celebrated."

The enthusiastic and cheery Lesley and Leslie are hilarious creations played by Michael Wagg and Paschale Straiton - who have reprised the roles in several towns and cities over the country, including Brighton, Margate and Stoke.

As a new town with uninspiring parts to the town centre, Harlow could possibly be their stiffest challenge yet.

This is where the pair are reliant on the background work of Simon and Lucy Frost - aka Vivian and Vivienne.

What helps make Funny Peculiar so relevant is the attention to detail that can only be accessed through a show doing its homework.

Vivian and Vivienne have been in character as "low status clowns" in a West Walk pop-up shop for the last fortnight, speaking to Harlow residents with a story to tell.

They've already uncovered some hidden gems including a story of a RAF maverick who met on the same Harlow bench every week to tell secrets to a Russian spy during the cold war.

When Leslie and Lesley finish their stint giving tours in Margate the four will converse and plan the Harlow shows - which will also feature an audio guide to make the performance a truly authentic experience.

Following on from the successful Hunt and Darton café in Harlow, Funny Peculiar is another example of theatre for people who don't do theatre.

Audiences gather for the tours outside the Playhouse where the circuit will begin and end an hour later with a stage show - for which organisers are still seeking performers.

Funny Peculiar will be performed on Thursday, September 24 at 12.30pm and on Friday 25-Saturday, 26 September at 12.30pm and 3.30pm.

Tickets cost £8 and can be bought from www.harlowplayhouse.co.uk.

If you're interested in performing at the Playhouse for the climax of the tour - contact Sarah Sansom on sarah@timewontwait.com.

Aspiring fiction author sets his debut novel in Harlow

PROPERTY expert turned young adult writer Ajay Ahuja has chosen Harlow as the setting for his debut novel Beyond Vengeance.

But the 43-year-old is facing a struggle for funding as he seeks to make his dream a reality by self-publishing the book.

Mr Ahuja, who grew up in Fennells, Harlow, has previously only written books about his day job of property and holdings - but is now intently pursuing his passion of writing page-turning stories with a moral message.

He has set-up an online

Kickstarter campaign to help self-publish Beyond Vengeance, which is due to be completed in November.

"The story is about a young guy called Judd, who is a small-time drug dealer in Harlow and who is set on revenge," says Mr Ahuja, who now lives with his wife in Cambridge.

"Judd knows he needs a way out of his second life - but struggles to see that he needs to find forgiveness rather than revenge.

"The story has a strong moral premise and it is something I have enjoyed writing, as all my previous 13 books have been non-fiction.

"If this book works out I have ideas for others I could write as well."

Mr Ahuja's bestselling The Buy-to-Let Bible was bought over 100,000 times, but with no deal in place he is worried Beyond Vengeance may never be read.

Magical music of duo is relived

THEY are as reclusive as they are loved and their spinetingling folk/rock harmonies will echo around Harlow Playhouse later this month.

Following its West End success in February, a lovingly-crafted new musical celebrating the life, times and sounds of Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel is currently touring the UK.

The Simon and Garfunkel Story stars Dean Elliott and Joe Sterling as the iconic duo, exploring their intense musical partnership and fractious friendship.

It tells the story of the New York pair from their humble beginnings as rock 'n' roll duo Tom and Jerry, through their huge success, dramatic break-up and finishes with a recreation of the 1981 Central Park reformation concert.

For actor Dean, himself a fan who produced the show, walking on stage every night as Paul Simon to sing songs like Mrs Robinson, The Sound of Silence, Cecilia and The Boxer is more of an indulgence than a job.

He said: "I was doing the show Buddy in London's West End for years, and I wanted to do something that was my own but in much the same way as Buddy.

"It had to be something I was passionate about that had a story, theatrical content and West End musical values. I have all the Simon and Garfunkel albums and love all their work so it felt like the obvious choice.

"There's something about their music that gives people goosebumps, even talking about some of the songs. That's why we've put this together."

Because of the complex rules governing such matters, the pair don't call themselves Simon and Garfunkel on stage.

"This is not a tribute act. It's a theatrical progress through their life and illustrious careers.

"They started at the end of the 1950s and finished in the 1970s and we thought: that covers the whole of the 1960s. We decided to fuse their story with the story of the '60s, the high and lows."

Dean said: "They're storytellers and they were performing in a time of real social and political change. So we thought it might be interesting to tell the rags-to-riches story.

"Simon and Garfunkel is a bit sacred so it's been a challenge. People have expectations - they're peoples' heroes. People feel emotions towards them."

"Two voices singing in close harmony can be a beautiful sound, but achieving the alchemy of Simon and Garfunkel's duets is almost an impossible task.

"I read a biography they'd sit in a room and look at each other's mouths, and every sound absolutely spot-on together. So we spent four months in rehearsals to ensure that the voices worked in vocal harmony," Dean explained.

"It's been crazy so far - we're selling out shows and we've been getting standing ovations every night."

An international tour is scheduled after the British tour.

The Simon and Garfunkel Story will be at Harlow Playhouse on Wednesday, September 26 at 7.30pm. Tickets cost between £21 and £18. To book visit www.playhouseharlow.com or call the box office on (01279) 431945.

The heights of

HIGH DRAMA: Everest

Everest

ACTION DRAMA: (12A) 131 mins

Director: Baltasar Kormakur
Starring: Jason Clarke, Josh Brolin, John Hawkes, Robin Wright, Emily Watson, Keira Knightley, Sam Worthington, Jake Gyllenhaal, Michael Kelly, Martin Henderson

Icelandic director Baltasar Kormakur heads for the highest peak on earth for a gripping drama based on true events, which cast a deadly shadow over the mountaineering community in 1996.

Penninged by William Nicholson and Simon Beaufoy, award-winning scribes of Gladiator and Slumdog Millionaire, Everest is a slickly orchestrated recreation of an ill-fated ascent to 29,029 feet above sea level, where altitude sickness silently stalks the most experienced climbers.

From this literally breathtaking vantage point, one wrong movement or the slightest change in Mother Nature's volatile temperament can be fatal.

The air is too thin for helicopter rescue, so all that separates expeditions from an icy grave is the eternal flame of the human spirit, which compels men and women to perform superhuman feats of strength and endurance.

Rob Hall (Jason Clarke) and Scott Fischer (Jake Gyllenhaal) lead rival expeditions, racing against one another and the elements to ensure their clients are on top of the world.

Unlike his rival, Rob takes a fastidious, cautious approach to each ascent with his company Adventure Consultants, promising his pregnant wife Jan (Keira Knightley) that he will return soon for the imminent birth of their daughter.

His base camp team includes mother hen Helen Wilton (Emily Watson), medic Caroline Mackenzie (Elizabeth Debicki) and fellow guide Andy Harris (Martin Henderson).

Clients on Hall's ill-fated May 1996 expedition include respected journalist Jon Krakauer (Michael Kelly), postman Doug Hansen (John Hawkes), doctor Beck Weathers (Josh Brolin) and Yasuko Namba (Naoko Mori), who is attempting to become only the second Japanese woman to reach the summits of the highest mountains on all seven continents.

As Rob and Scott's teams approach the summit, a fierce storm rumbles nearby, threatening to trap the climbers and guides on the rock face.

"There is competition between every person and this mountain. The last word always belongs to the mountain," one of the guides pointedly observes.

Everest doesn't quite scale the dizzy emotional heights to which it aspires and it's not always easy to distinguish characters when tragedy strikes in the eye of a storm, but there is no escaping the nerve-racking suspense that holds us in a vice-like grip.

Performances are occasionally lost to the roar of the sub-zero wind but Watson certainly wrings out tears that remain frozen for other cast members.

Kormakur's decision to shoot his picture in 3D and IMAX 3D adds a vertiginous, stomach-churning extra dimension to this high-wire fight for survival.

We experience the relentless, sickening pull of gravity as the camera swoops above and below the characters as they clamber over rickety ladders that traverse gaping crevasses on the treacherous Khumbu Icefall.

These brave souls might be instructed to keep their heads up, but we have no choice but to stare at the jagged wall of rock and ice that stretches down towards oblivion.

Don't be afraid to hold on white-knuckle tight to the armrest of your seat.

ESTABLISHED in 2011 in partnership with Essex County Council and Harlow District Council, Hub + Spoke was set up in Bush Fair, Harlow, to promote cycling in and around the town and to deliver training and education within the local community.

It aims to help people start cycling for leisure and fitness, to improve health and well-being and provide training and education while protecting the environment at the same time.

Since it opened, council funding has been reduced and Hub + Spoke has been forced to reconsider the way it was run.

Senior mechanic Stephen Collins explains: "We have had to take a more business-like approach to the way in which we operate. We had to shrink rapidly, but I'm optimistic that from here we can expand our support."

Led rides, cycle maintenance and training courses, servicing and repairs are just some of the services available at Hub + Spoke. As a not for profit community interest company, any profit made by Hub +

Spoke is reinvested back into the community.

"People donate bikes free of charge and we strip them and rebuild them to re-sell at a reduced cost which offers locals an affordable way into cycling" added Steve.

All servicing and repairs are carried out in Hub + Spoke's fully-equipped workshop by qualified staff and no job is too big or too small. Whether you need a puncture repair (£10 with new inner tube), new wheels building or a full strip, clean and rebuild, these experts can help.

The Hub + Spoke shop stocks a range of affordable essentials, from lights and mudguards to locks and cycle clothing, as well as parts and accessories.

There are new bicycles for sale, as well as recycled bikes and the shop is an agent for Dawes Cycles and Surly Bikes.

All staff and volunteers are cyclists with experience across many cycling disciplines, so can help you decide which bike is best for the type of riding you want to do, at a price that is right for you.

If you're feeling a little apprehensive about riding in a group or you are getting back on the bike after a long time or after an injury or illness, Hub + Spoke is the place to come. Why not try a one-to-one session with a ride leader? They can help you gain or regain confidence and stamina on your bike.

Hub + Spoke is open Wednesday to Saturday 10am to 4pm.

Builder, baker, big bun maker!

Claire Spreadbury tries her hand at baking under the watchful eye of 2014 Great British Bake-off contestant, Richard Burr . . .

RICHARD Burr might not have won last year's Great British Bake Off, but he's definitely one of the show's most memorable contestants.

Maybe it's the pencil behind the ear. Maybe it's the consistency that saw him scoop the most Star Baker accolades the programme's ever seen.

Or maybe it's his delectable, down-to-earth demeanour, which never saw him flap, fluster or throw a Baked Alaska in the bin.

And while a new crew of bakers craft their showstoppers in this year's series, 39-year-old Burr has been beaver away releasing his first cookbook.

"I got to spend the whole winter making all of my favourite food," he tells me in the kitchen of his north London home, all doe-eyed and dimples.

The house, which was derelict when he bought it and lovingly restored with his own fair hands (he runs a building firm with his dad), has seen a fair bit of action of late. The entire book was shot, cover to cover, here ("the crew all but moved in"), and includes lovely images of old tools from Burr's toolbox, including his beloved grandfather's saw.

It's clear that family's really important to him.

As we get to work on one of Burr's favourite sweet treats, he's a pleasure to share a kitchen with, giving me instructions, tips and encouragement as I do my very best not to split the creme patissiere.

Fancy baking some of Richard Burr's creations for yourself? Give these tasty treats a whirl...

PUFF PASTRY - FOR THE MILLEFEUILLE AND WELLINGTON RECIPES

225g strong white bread flour, plus more to dust
1/2tsp table salt
225g unsalted butter, chilled
1tsp lemon juice

This is very important (and a bit like a choose-your-own-adventure): If you don't have a day to prepare, just buy a pack of all-butter puff pastry from the shops and move straight to the millefeuille or wellington recipe.

If you do have a day to prepare, to make the puff pastry, first mix the flour and salt in a large bowl, then chop 25g of the butter and rub into the flour with your fingers.

Add the lemon juice and 140ml of cold water and mix with a knife until the mixture is brought together enough to handle. Tip out on to a floured work surface and knead until smooth and elastic (probably five to 10 minutes). Allow the dough to rest for five minutes.

Roll out on a floured surface to a rectangle of 51 x 17cm (or thereabouts). You need quite a bit of worktop space for this. Roll out the remaining 200g butter between sheets of cling film to a large rectangle of 33 x 15cm. You'll need to peel off and reapply the cling film regularly to stop it ripping.

Working quickly now, peel the top layer of cling film off the butter and flip the butter onto the rolled-out dough, covering two-thirds of the length of the dough and also leaving a clear rim around all the edges.

Fold the unbuttered dough on to half of the butter and press the edges to seal the butter in. Fold this layer over to cover the remaining butter and press down the edges all round to form a 17cm square: two layers of butter separated by three layers of dough. Wrap in cling film and chill in the fridge for 30 minutes.

Take out of the fridge and roll back out to about 51 x 17cm. Fold up into thirds as before, to make a square. Turn the square through 90 degrees and roll out to 51 x 17cm again, then fold up as before. Wrap in cling film and chill for another 30 minutes.

Repeat the last step, so the pastry has been folded a total of five times. Chill for another 30 minutes.

FIG AND ANISE MILLEFEUILLE (MAKES 10)

For the pastry:

2/3 quantity puff pastry dough (or you can cheat and buy it ready-made)
Plain flour, to dust
Icing sugar, to dust

For the custard:

170ml whole milk
3 star anise
2 egg yolks
35g caster sugar
11/2 tbsp cornflour
100ml double cream

For the figs in syrup:

4 baby figs
Finely grated zest and juice of an orange
50g light brown muscovado sugar
1 cinnamon stick

Follow the instructions to make the pastry (if you're not using shop-bought), rolling it out to about 45 x 15cm each time and chilling in the fridge.

Now for the custard. Pour the milk into a saucepan with the star anise and set over a medium heat. Bring to a simmer, then take off the heat and leave to infuse for 10 minutes.

Put the egg yolks in a heatproof bowl and whisk with the caster sugar and cornflour, using a hand or electric whisk.

Once the milk has infused, fish out the star anise and pour the milk into the egg mixture, whisking as you do so. Pour back into the saucepan and set over a low heat. Stir constantly, using a silicone spatula, until the custard thickens up, then quickly scrape into a clean bowl.

Lay cling film on the surface of the custard (to stop a skin forming) and put in the fridge to cool.

While the pastry is chilling in the fridge, you can poach the figs. Cut each fig into sixths, put in a saucepan with the orange zest and juice, sugar and cinnamon stick and set over a low heat.

Once simmering, cook for eight to 10 minutes, occasionally turning the figs. Fish the figs out of the saucepan and lay on a plate. Put in the fridge to cool.

Preheat the oven to 220C/fan 200C/gas 7. Line a baking tray with baking parchment and take the pastry out of the fridge.

Roll it out on a floured surface to a neat rectangle 30 x 25cm and lay this on the baking tray. Lay another sheet of baking parchment on top of this and weigh it down with another baking tray to stop the pastry from puffing up too far. Bake in the oven for 10 minutes.

Take the tray off the top of the pastry and return to the oven for another 10-12 minutes until golden brown and cooked through. Remove from the oven, take the pastry off the tray and off the baking parchment. Set on a wire rack to cool down.

Returning to the custard, whip the cream with an electric whisk until it forms soft peaks. Take the now-cooled custard out of the fridge and fold in the whipped cream, a couple of tablespoons at a time. Load into a piping bag and snip the end to make an opening about 5mm in diameter.

Once the pastry is completely cooled, put it on a chopping board and carefully cut into three rectangles of 25 x 10cm. Cut each of these into 10 pieces, each 10 x 2.5cm, to give 30 neat fingers of puff pastry. Some of the outside ones may be a bit ragged, but those are generally the baker's treats!

Assemble each pastry: Pipe 14 small blobs (two rows of seven) of custard on to the bottom layer of pastry. Lay the next layer on top and pipe on another 14 blobs of custard.

Take the figs out of the fridge and cut each segment in half (giving you 48 segments). Lay segments of fig on top of the custard, all facing in the same direction. You might have a few fig pieces left over, depending on size.

Lay a third layer of pastry on top and dust with a little icing sugar. Repeat to assemble all the pastries.

GREEN OLIVE AND ROSEMARY FOCACCIA (MAKES 2)

500g strong white bread flour, plus more if needed
2tsp table salt
1tbsp 'quick' yeast
50ml olive oil, plus more to knead, prove and shape
350ml water
20 pitted green olives, in brine or oil
A few sprigs of rosemary
Sea salt flakes and freshly coarse-ground black pepper

Measure the flour, salt and yeast into a bowl, making sure you add the salt and yeast to opposite sides of the bowl, then mix with a wooden spoon. Add the 50ml of olive oil and all the water, and combine with the spoon until you have a wet dough.

Pour about two tablespoons of olive oil on to a work surface and tip out the dough on to it. Knead for at least 10 minutes. The dough will be sloppy and this is going to be a messy business, so don't worry if you get your hands covered. Use your judgement about whether to add more flour; don't add too much, as it should remain a wet dough.

Oil an ice-cream tub or any large plastic container (more than 2L capacity) and plop the dough in. Cover with cling film and leave to rise at room temperature for one to one-and-a-half hours, until it has at least doubled in size.

Pour another couple of teaspoons of oil on to a work surface and gently tip out the risen dough. Take two long knives and oil the blades. Cut the dough into two equal pieces: use one knife to cut them, then slide the other knife alongside the first and use both knives to push the halves apart. (This is the easiest way of prising the dough into two pieces.)

Gently pick up each half and place on a baking tray, lined with baking parchment, forming each into a thin lozenge shape. Cover with a plastic bag and leave to rise for 45 minutes. (The bag should form a tent around them.)

Preheat the oven to 220C/fan 200C/gas 7 and uncover the dough.

Cut the olives in half lengthways and press firmly into the dough. Drizzle with a few more tablespoons of oil and lay cut sprigs of rosemary on top. Season with sea salt flakes and pepper.

Bake for 20-25 minutes, then remove and cool on two wire racks. Drizzle with more olive oil before cutting into strips and eating.

Motability

Hills Toyota will recommend the correct service for your vehicle based on the age, mileage and service history. All prices include parts, oil, labour and VAT (20%). Fixed Price Servicing is applicable to Toyota passenger vehicles only and cannot be used in conjunction with any other offer. Additional items may be required on some services. Only at participating Authorised Toyota Service Centre. Prices apply to vehicles up to 10 years or 100,000 miles. Prices correct as at January 2014 and are the maximum retail price. Authorised Toyota Service Centres are free to offer prices lower than above. Hybrid Health Check will extend the Hybrid Battery warranty by 1 year or 10,000 miles as long as it takes place before the car's tenth anniversary of first registration. For further information regarding Hybrid warranty visit toyota.co.uk/5yearwarranty.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Customer Service Advisor Hertford, Salary to £21,058 plus benefits

This is a very exciting time to be joining the Network Housing Group. With 19,300 properties and a turnover of £155m, we never stand still, and as one of the largest housing associations in London and the South East, our customers are at the forefront of everything we do.

When it comes to our customers we listen, we care and we aim to get it right first time, every time.

Our shared commitment to our customers is 'Every Customer Counts'.

Our Customer Contact Centre is essential towards this goal. Our Customer Service Advisors are honest, always prepared to go the extra mile and want to make a positive difference to the lives of our customers.

The role will be busy, challenging and incredibly varied, and you can be dealing with everything from a repair through to Anti-Social Behaviour, with every customer as important as another.

You will need to be able to prioritise, think on your feet and your communication skills will be exceptional; you will not only be dealing with our residents but with internal colleagues and contractors.

To succeed in this position, you will demonstrate excellent listening and communication skills, empathy, attention to detail and a desire to help others.

In addition to this, you will have proven IT skills (Outlook is essential and exposure to a CRM package highly desirable) and a professional telephone manner that will be assessed during the recruitment process.

This is a great starting point within an organisation where we are committed to your development and to delivering opportunities for your career progression.

Please send your CV and Cover Letter to recruitment@networkhg.org.uk and ensure that you read the information for candidates at our website <http://www.networkhg.org.uk>

Please contact the recruitment team on 020 8782 4374 should you require any further information.

MBDA CAREERS EVENT STEVENAGE

MISSILE SYSTEMS

Saturday 26th September 2015
10am to 2pm

MBDA, Six Hills Way, Stevenage
Hertfordshire, SG1 2DA*

MBDA, a world leader in missiles and missile systems, is a multinational group with 10,000 employees across the UK, Europe and US. With some of the most sophisticated technology in defence, we are looking for Graduates, Experienced Engineers and Business Professionals to expand our talent base.

Please visit our website www.mbdacareers.co.uk before attending to find out about our company, benefits and to check if our current vacancies are a match to your skill set.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS:

- PHOTO ID WILL BE REQUIRED FOR ENTRY ON THE DAY.
- You will need to be eligible for SC (Secret Level) UK Security Clearance, with no restrictions, in order to apply for any of our UK opportunities.
- Children under the age of 16 will not be permitted.
- Please ensure you bring along an up to date hard copy of your CV with you on the day.
- Relocation assistance may be offered as part of the package (subject to terms and conditions).

*Postcode for Sat Nav users: SG1 2DA

Tecserv Ltd, the UK's leading photocopier installation company is now recruiting trainee "Installation Technicians"

tecserve
photocopier handling specialists

The role involves the preparation, handling, and installation of photocopiers throughout the UK and Northern Ireland. As this position is unique to the office equipment industry, full comprehensive training will be given to the suitable candidates.

If you can meet the following criteria and are looking for a long term challenging career, then please contact Tecserv on 01279 453444 or enquiries@tecserve-uk.co.uk for an application form.

- Must be physically fit (some heavy lifting involved)
- Must have a full UK driving licence, be over 21 and have driven in the UK for at least 12 months.
- Must have a good command of the English language, and have good clear handwriting.
- Must be able to use a screwdriver and other small tools.
- Must have a good attendance and punctuality record.
- Must have good personal hygiene standards and be well presented.

The ideal candidates will also require good common sense, be able to use their own initiative and have plenty of energy and drive.

During the probation period and the follow-on training and development programme the remuneration package will be as follows:

Starting basic salary: £15k + overtime

After 3 months: £16k + overtime + bonus

After full training has been completed (this time frame will vary according to individual ability) a current maximum basic of £18k + overtime + bonus giving an OTE of £19k.

In addition to the above salary profile we also supply a free uniform and full expense account. Interested? Then contact us now for your application form.

Grove Cottage, the home of Bishop's Stortford Mencap, is looking for outstanding individuals to help us run our Saturday Clubs, Holiday Clubs & Youth Club (Tuesday evening)

Club Leaders and Deputy Club Leaders

This role will involve running one of Grove Cottage's vibrant clubs for teenagers on a Saturday and/or during the school holidays. You will also be expected to manage the staff and volunteers, & liaise with parents.

Previous experience of working with teenagers with learning difficulties is essential.

In the first instance, please send your cv or any questions you may have to the CEO,

David McConnell at david@mencapgrovecottage.org.

Closing date for applications: 20 September 2015

Community Development Officer, Educational Attainment

£26,161 - £27,213 per annum 11 month fixed-term contract
37.5 hours per week (banking 30 minutes per week to be used towards the shut down between Christmas and New Year)

Reporting to the Youth and Citizenship Manager, you will be responsible for working with partners to develop Early Years Partnership Delivery Plans that will support children's transition to school, and ensure they are equipped with the skills necessary to enable them to learn and reach their full potential.

You will use your community development skills and experience to identify the needs of Harlow families and children, map current provision, identify gaps in provision, and work with all relevant partners to design and deliver innovative ways of meeting identified needs and building community capacity.

You will have good organisational and communication skills, be able to work using your own initiative, be used to dealing with confidential information and be sensitive and responsive to the varying needs of families and children.

Ideally, you will have some experience of direct work with children and families, knowledge and understanding of the Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum, and experience of effective partnership working in a family support/pre-school/educational setting.

If you are experienced in community development work, enthusiastic, self-motivated and passionate about improving educational aspirations and attainment for children, then this may be the role for you. (Ref: CM0399)

Senior Community Play Worker

£24,589 - £25,638 per annum pro rata
25.5 hours during term-time, 37.5 hours during Easter, Summer and Christmas holidays (banking 20/30 minutes per week to be used towards the shut down between Christmas and New Year)

Fixed-term contract until March 2016

We are looking to recruit an enthusiastic person to oversee and directly deliver services for children with a disability, known as Short Breaks provision.

You will take a lead role in relation to all aspects of service delivery and oversee a small team of highly skilled and experienced play workers to deliver Saturday Club sessions, a weekly Youth Club session and all day Play Scheme sessions in the main school holidays.

You will plan and deliver a range of activities that are both fun and stimulating, supervise children, administer medication, attend to service users' personal care needs and regularly liaise with parents and carers.

You should have experience of working with children and young people with a disability and of leading on the delivery of services within a play or care setting. You will be qualified to at least NVQ Level 2 in Play Work, or Children's Care Learning and Development, or equivalent qualification.

You should possess sound knowledge and understanding of Ofsted requirements for play and care settings, Safeguarding, Health & Safety, Disability, Equal Opportunities, Child Development and the cultural needs of children and young people from all backgrounds. You must have experience of working within a confidential environment and be able to create, maintain and store confidential records, both electronically and in hard format.

Please note that this is a fixed-term contract. There may be an opportunity to extend the contract beyond 31 March 2016 but this cannot be guaranteed. (Ref: CM0090)

For both roles, you will be required to complete an application for a Disclosure and Barring Service Check, and any offer of employment will be subject to satisfactory pre-employment checks.

For an application form, please visit www.harlow.gov.uk/jobs or contact our recruitment line on 01279 446017. Please quote reference number in all correspondence. Closing date: Friday 2 October 2015.

We are committed to interviewing all applicants with a disability who meet the minimum criteria. Jobs may be available on a job share basis.

YOUR STARS WITH

Money can't buy happiness and lately I can see from your chart that you've been focusing on the material, rather than the emotional. Time spent with family and close ones helps you get back in touch with what who is really important. It also helps you to decide your next step in career and home affairs. Ring now to hear why it's worth returning all phone calls and messages this week.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21
Slow your pace and try to take more time when doing projects this week. It's the key to you getting rid of that slapdash reputation Taurus. Someone you thought highly of lets you down, but wait until they've explained, as the stars suggest there is more to their story than first meets the eye. Slow and steady wins the race in relationships. Don't rush. Ring now to hear who I think is perfect for you.

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21
Money may be a little hard to get your hands on at the beginning of the week and some of your sign may have to tell a white lie or two to cover their tracks. By the end of the week you agree mentally and physically to commit to a project which begins and exciting new chapter in your life. Ensure you deliver all promised work when you say you will. Your reputation is on the line. Ring now to reveal all.

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22
There are many rumours circulating over the coming days, some of which are true, others not. What is clear Cancer is that you no longer feel the same way about a situation in your life and you have until Friday to let the person know, before you get the reputation as a tease or a trouble maker. Don't use third parties to do so. Ring now so I can give you tactics to use.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23
Your routine is not sitting as well with you as it was and this seems to have a lot to do with the way you have been trying so hard to fit in with other people, rather than doing what was right for you. A forced change in the family is your signal to take a stand of independence. Grab it and run with it my friend. Ring now to hear why it's worth being on time and sticking to family plans.

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22
An impatient mood could see you discouraging close ones who continue to make slow progress. Stop and think about how such negative comments could affect them Virgo. You would be far better to show them support and then they will do the same should your situation ever be reversed. Set a standard you would be willing to live with in return please. Ring now for a revelation in love.

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23
This is an excellent week to put your time and energy into the relationships in your life. You can make progress where before you could only tread water. Mercury gives us all a better understanding of our close ones needs and we start to work towards more constructive actions rather than destructive ones. Ring now to hear how unexpected travel is a good thing.

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21
Don't let bitterness force you into saying things you know you will regret, but instead embrace your enemies Scorpio. This really is a month where it's a case of either the devil you know, you may not realise it, but you will soon have to work with or close to those you don't like, but only for a short time, so don't cut your nose off to spite your face. Ring now for answers to love.

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20
Patience may be hard to find, but I know its in there Sagittarius. Try to see the positive in every situation and you will soon start to feel like the bigger and better person. News of an ex gives you reason to feel happy you moved on and also confirms something you had guessed for a while anyway. A wise decision you reach in business seals a deal. Ring now for more on this productive time.

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20
You seem to be worried about your close ones who are not looking after themselves as well as they should. Take time out of your day to talk to them, but don't give up your week or you could end up feeling their need for attention rather than actually helping them. A confusing week in love as your heart finds it hard to decide what it wants. Ring now to hear why time is on your side more than you think.

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19
There seems to be a gap in your knowledge which needs to be filled and the sooner you start to seek ways of doing things which are more suited to your needs and desires, the happier you'll be. You have the right to have a personal life as well as a professional one you know Aquarius. Ring now to hear how people with accents can bring riches to your career this September.

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20
Those you are meeting may not turn up on time this week, but that doesn't mean that you can be late. In fact it is more important than ever that you show a professional attitude as those with the power are watching and ready and able to help you if you can show you have what it takes to get the job done Family rifts can be healed on Friday. Ring now for more on this powerful time.

Silverwood's job audition

Caretaker aims to stake claim

by Oliver Harbord

sportsdesk@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ESSEX'S acting head coach Chris Silverwood is hoping his players can continue to perform in order for him to stake his claim to get the job permanently.

The 40-year-old has made it clear that he wants to succeed fellow Yorkshireman Paul Grayson as first-team head coach.

Silverwood was put in charge for the final four County Championship Division Two games of the season after the Eagles' Royal London One-Day Cup quarter-final defeat by Yorkshire last month.

And the players have responded perfectly to him, putting in a strong performance against Northamptonshire and then hammering Derbyshire.

He said: "The best way for me [to get the job] is if the guys keep performing, and it was really pleasing to watch them win so convincingly last week at Derbyshire.

"If we can keep doing that then obviously it should stand me in good stead.

"I would love to take the job on.

"I have made it clear to the chairman of cricket that I would like to be head coach, and various other people, but that is the decision that they will make.

Focused

"That is as far as the conversation has gone really, I am just focusing on the here and now, which is Leicestershire at the moment and then Lancashire next week.

"If the club then decides to interview me, or however it works, then we will just take it from there."

There has been plenty of speculation about who Essex will choose to succeed Grayson as head coach.

Former England wicketkeep-er Paul Nixon was one name that was thrown into the hat.

And Silverwood admitted that if someone from outside took over the role, he still wants to be part of the Essex set-up.

"I would want to stay as assistant coach if somebody was to come in as head coach," he added.

"I enjoy working with this first team and I feel like I have a lot to give Essex.

"I am very happy at the club, it is a fantastic place and there are some very good people around it.

"There are good youngsters and it is exciting, I can see a real future for Essex and I want to be part of that."

'Eagles must keep hold of their starlets'

CHRIS SILVERWOOD has said it is vital that Essex keep hold of their young talent.

Reece Topley became the latest in a line of youngsters that have come through the academy but then moved on to other clubs.

However, Essex have recently given Jamie Porter a new three-year deal and 21-year-old Kishen Velani a two-year deal.

Brentwood's own Tom Moore also made a massive contribution in Essex's recent hammering of Derbyshire.

The 23-year-old took 3-12 from just six first-innings overs and, along with debutant Jack Winslade (4-20), showed that there is still a strong contingent of players coming through.

"You have constantly got to be looking for the next generation to be coming through and to give them as much of a chance as possible," Silverwood said.

"They will keep getting better and better with the experience they will get from playing with the senior players.

"The young lads are the future of the club and we need to secure them and have faith in them.

"Jamie and Kish signing is great and shows that we are getting things right here.

"We are creating the right environment that they are happy to be in and to pledge their future here.

"We want to compete and if we do that then they will stay.

"It will come down to the coaching staff to make it clear that they can improve and they can absolutely do that at Essex."

Basketball

HIGH POINT: Will Ashby in action on Saturday

Leopards are gelling nicely, says Ogunjimi

AS his side prepare to open their National Trophy campaign on Friday fresh from a ninth win out of nine at Harlow Leisurezone, Levett Essex Leopards coach Steve Ogunjimi believes his side are purring.

The Big Cats host London Lituanica, tip-off 8pm, in their first National Trophy game of the season at Brentwood, and are also in action on Sunday when they travel to Southwark in the first round of the cup.

"Everything is coming together, and we're gelling nicely," said Ogunjimi.

"The guys are taking on the new offence I've put in, and although we're still missing one or two pieces, the core group has a really positive vibe.

"I'm looking forward to the real season, and Friday will certainly be a tough test for us."

Lituanica are a side comprising London-based Lithuanians, and they have made rapid progress through the NBL with three promotions in four years.

Friday's game, which sees the reigning champions of Division One and Two clash, will be their top flight debut, but on their way through the National League they have knocked Leopards out of the cup twice in the past three seasons.

Roster

Ogunjimi has added big men Jamie Hayes and Justin Hitchman to his roster in the last week, and the Big Cats are also hopeful that Portuguese forward Frederico Tavaras will have received international clearance in time for the game.

Leopards made it two wins from two as Brunel University were beaten 86-61 at Leisurezone on Saturday evening.

While the visitors only led briefly in the first period, the final margin wasn't a true reflection of the game, with the Big Cats finishing strongly to score the final 15 points to wrap up the win.

Forward Tosin Oyelese had a career-best night for the Big Cats, pulling down an incredible 24 rebounds, 13 of which were on the offensive end, and adding 12 points.

Understandably, Ogunjimi was delighted with his display, saying: "I was very happy with Tosin. He was asked to carry the burden as we're a bit under-sized, and he took his game to another level," he said.

"I'm looking forward to him developing and having some more performances like that."

Brentwood-based Will Ashby led the Big Cats' scoring with 26 points, adding six rebounds and four assists.

Silver medal at Essex Championships for Dionne

DIONNE JONES sealed a silver medal at the Essex Half Marathon Championships.

Held at Pleshey near Chelmsford, the Harlow Running Club member finished in 136th out of 392 finishers and won the women's veteran 45 age group silver medal in a superb 1hr 37min 58sec.

Just behind her in 138th place, John Tennant finished in 1:38:22 for a HRC Vet 65 record.

There were personal best (PB) runs from Catherine Ridge (225th in 1:48:59), Debbie Barry (279th in 1:55:28) and Jane Evans (312th in 2:00:24).

Quickest Harlow runner on the day was Jared Bethell in 13th place in 1:17:21.

He was followed home by Jamie Jephcott (111th in 1:36:06), John Bull (115th in 1:36:29), Colin Moody (157th in 1:40:43), Pasquale Pellicchia (174th in 1:42:45), Vicky Steadman (185th in 1:44:14), Sandra Rust (192nd in 1:44:52), Robin Lozeau (238th in 1:50:10), Janice Page (263rd in 1:53:00), Karen Moir (289th in 1:57:03), Debbie Smith (304th in 1:59:16) and David Page (326th in 2:03:54).

Meanwhile at the Great North Run half marathon, Joanna Lawrence was 17,583rd out of 40,880 in 2:10:37. Debbie Cooper was in 28,913th spot in 2:32:27.

Other results:- Victoria Park

10K: Adrian Fell 14th and 1st Vet 45 PB 38:39.

At the St Neots Triathlon Andy Ramage was 61st out of 109 finishers in a total time, including transitions, of 2:54:12.

This included a 1.5km swim, a 40km bike ride and a 10km run. More HRC results at www.harlowstar.co.uk/sport

Bowling infusion can deliver Town success

Skipper eyes new players to put 'poor' 2015 in past

By Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town skipper Neil Gladwin knows his side must strengthen in their bowling department and improve their batting if they are to be successful last season.

A miserable campaign for the Phoenix Park men saw them just avoid relegation in Division Two of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

The loss of three bowlers before the season started gave Town a mountain to climb.

Gladwin (pictured right) will have to bring in at least one or two more bowlers if Town are not to falter again next season.

He explained: "I spoke at the start of the year about our ambition to challenge for promotion and, quite obviously, things didn't go to plan.

"We lost three vital bowlers at the start of the year, Dan Calver moved to Norfolk, Hass Ali had to work on Saturdays and Ashley Alderson's back meant he was not able to bowl properly this year.

"We managed to pick up two bowlers, one wasn't of the required standard and only Owais Qasim managed to secure a first team spot.

"This caused a huge hole in our attack. Dan Baldwin came into the side and did well, but by his own admission he's still learning how to bowl, having been a regular wicket-keeper last year and needs time to develop."

Struggled

The likes of experienced batsman Joe Holland and Gladwin himself struggled to make big runs on a regular basis.

Gladwin said: "Along with the depleted bowling attack our batting simply hasn't fired.

"The only two batters who can say they've performed even remotely closely to their talents have been Ramya Upadhyay and Ashley Alderson.

"Ramya has been brilliant for us this year, scoring 727 league runs at an average of 45 with three hundreds.

"Ashley in his first year as an out and out batter has performed brilliantly.

"He secured a top-ten runs berth with 518 runs at an average of 32.

"This is just the starting point for him as a batter and I have no doubt that he will average over 40 in the seasons to come, the benchmark for a top order player.

"The rest of us have been pretty poor for the majority of the year.

"Myself and Joe Holland, who are the two experienced players, who are here to score the bulk of the middle order runs, just haven't performed.

"Joe had a good second half of the season, I averaged mid 20s. If we aren't racking up runs then we aren't going to challenge.

"To be challengers, which we can be, then we need to bring a bowler or two into the side, we also need a couple of batters to put pressure on the current top order, this will show me and the selection committee who actually wants to play at this level."

Inspired Spiral gymnasts rock on to huge medal haul

Gymnastics

VICTORIOUS Harlow Gymnastics Club returned with a haul of medals from the Spiral Rocks competition in Peterborough.

Up against clubs from Cambridgeshire, Lincolnshire, Essex and Devon, the Harlow gymnasts excelled.

Charlotte Brough, 13, a St Mark's student, won the overall competition trophy in the Ruby event with a super score of 51.1.

She finished in first place in the age 14+ competition after receiving gold medals on floor and beam, silver medal on bars and fifth on vault.

Competing in the Ruby age ten-11 event, Henry Moore pupil, Heather Cannon, ten, won the gold medal on floor; silver medal on vault and fourth on bars to finish in fourth overall.

Faye Andrews won bronze on beam and fourth place on floor to finish in eighth place overall.

Team-mate Liberty Miller, nine, placed fifth on bars and finished in 11th place overall.

In the Ruby age 12-13 competition, St Luke's pupil, Millie Upton, 11, was awarded with the gold medal for bars and finished in 11th position overall.

IN IT TO GRIN IT: The smiling Harlow gymnasts after their success at the Spiral Rocks competition

Isabella Ormerod, 11, placed sixth on beam and finished in eighth place overall and team-mate Sophia Huddart, 11, was sixth on floor to finish in 12th place in the same competition.

Further medal joy came in the Topaz competition with Lucy Barylski, 14, winning gold medals for vault, bars and beam and sixth position on floor.

An outstanding performance in her last ever competition, Lucy won the age 12+ event with a score of 48.6 and took fourth place overall in the Topaz competition.

In the same event, Burnt Mill student, Brooke Walker, 11, took gold on bars, bronze medal on vault and fifth on beam to finish seventh overall.

Daisy Jones, 12, was third overall after winning the silver medal on bars, bronze medal on beam, fourth on floor and fifth on vault.

Win sze Kwok, 14, won the bronze medal for bars and was fourth on vault. She was 13th overall.

In the Topaz age ten-11 competition, Katherine's Primary pupil, Daisy Dove, ten, gained bronze on vault and was fourth on floor for 12th overall.

Molly McCarthy, eight, a Little Parndon Primary pupil, won the gold medal on floor, was fourth on beam and sixth on both vault and bars to finish in third place overall in the Topaz age eight-nine event.

Team-mate Bella Chandler, eight, was 12th after placing fifth on floor and sixth on vault.

Coaches Bee Macintosh and Stephanie Roger said: "All the Harlow gymnasts were amazing and shone like stars, we are so proud of all their hard work and commitment to their sport."

Read back to his best as Hawks march on

Harlow Town soar past Eagles to advance in FA Cup

FA Cup first qualifying rnd
Harlow Town 5
Bedford Town 1

HAWKS hitman Alex Read feels he's almost back to his very best after hitting a double in his side's FA Cup first qualifying round romp against Bedford Town.

Harlow Town now visit Evo-Stik Southern League Division One Central side St Ives Town in the second qualifying round the weekend after next after soaring past the Eagles on Saturday.

Read's brace took his tally to six in three games as he rediscovered the form which netted him nearly 100 goals in his first two seasons at the club.

Having recovered fully from an ankle injury which made him miss a key stage of Harlow's league run-in last term, Read, 27, now believes he is nearing top form.

"After breaking a bone in my ankle I came back quite fit, but over the summer I had to do a lot of strength work," he explained.

"I came back maybe a little bit too top heavy. Now I have come back [for this season] too light.

"I will soon be as fit as when I scored 52 [in his first season at the club after his move from Brentwood Town]."

Read believes Harlow are now starting to click as they bid to make it third time lucky in terms of promotion to the Ryman Premier Division.

They have been desperately unlucky over the last two campaigns, losing in both the play-off final and play-off semi-final respectively.

Read said: "It's not always about having the players, but it's having the players that work together.

"Now you see players tracking back and helping their mate out. Our wide men and our full-backs have got a good understanding.

"In the first few weeks we found it hard to get in those positions.

"We looked like we were out of shape in the first couple of weeks.

"But now the team is coming together and we look solid."

One thing is sure, Read loves life at The Harlow Arena.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed it at this club. That's why I've stayed here," he said.

On Saturday, Harlow took the lead against Evo-Stik Southern League Division One Central side Bedford on the half-hour mark.

Junior Dadson cut through from the right and powerfully fired into the net.

The hosts were a very different proposition in the second half, scoring four times.

Lewis Perkins took the ball off the dawdling Bedford skipper Tommy Hull, marched forward and rifled into a top corner soon after the break.

It was 3-0 on 50 minutes as Dadson crossed from the byline for Read to stab home.

Deficit

Dylan Gittens reduced the deficit, but this only fired up the Hawks as they made it 4-1 on 75 minutes.

Read latched on to a long ball from Ibrahima Sonko and fired past the Bedford keeper.

A piece of brilliance from Dadson made it 5-1 in injury-time.

He beat the Bedford defence for pace, rounded the keeper and then smashed the ball through the last defender, who had managed to get back, to complete an emphatic scoreline.

Dadson and Read have now scored 14 goals between them already this season.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "They are on fire. As well as his goals, Alex's all-round play was excellent. Their two centre-halves looked like rabbits in head-lights.

"That was a [great] performance, from start to finish. We were dominant - we looked hungry."

Next Saturday the Hawks are back in Ryman North action when they look for revenge as they host Witham Town in a repeat of the 2014 play-off final, which Harlow lost 3-0.

Pope secures bronze medal

HARLOW Judo Club's newly-qualified coach, Adam Pope, competed in the 2015 British Special Needs Open Championships held at Stoke Mandeville Stadium in Buckinghamshire.

Despite moving up into the next weight category and therefore almost being the lightest player in that group, 19-year-old Pope fought hard against higher Level One competitors and came away with a very respectable bronze medal.

The club also caters for special needs specifically for this area.

Perfect Mo-moment as athlete breaks record

HARLOW Athletic Club's Lewis Harknett managed to get a photo with London Olympic Games legend Mo Farah at the Great North Run.

But pride of place went to Harlow's Jemima Pratt, who won her age group in a course record time in the children's race the day before.

Club coach Paul Bailey said: "As always, Mo was absolutely great with our HAC kids and posed for photos and chatted to all of them."

Ten young athletes from the club made the long trip to Newcastle to compete in the junior road races as part of the Great City Games at the Great North Run.

The junior road races are held on the quayside in the city centre the day before the 13.1 mile trek on Sunday.

"It was a great opportunity for our youngsters to mingle with international athletes and go head-to-head with the best young distance runners in the north," said Bailey.

More than 7,000 youngsters competed in the races.

Eight-year-old Jemima won the U9s 1.5km road race in a blistering time of 5min 18sec, breaking the Newcastle course record and beating all the boys in her age group in the process.

Jemima competed against more than 1000 other young runners in her category and posted the fastest time in the 31-year history of the event in the U9s' age group.

She was interviewed at the start of the race, which was later shown on BBC1.

"As a club we've had 'Great Run' Series winners and podium places several times in the past, but this is the first time we've had a winner at the Great North Run which is incredible for us as a club and for Jemima," said Bailey.

Maddie Bailey had a strong run to finish in 32nd place in the U11 2.5km road race in 19:05.

In the U13 girls' 2.5km race, Charlotte Pratt was a fantastic fourth place in 16:13.

Charlotte fell over in the mass stampede start and bravely battled back from 30th place.

Savanna Sirkett was 15th in 16:40 and Ellen Savidge was 50th in 18:52.

Zoe Rutter ran in the U15 girls' 2.5km and was eighth in 16:05.

Ben Savidge ran in the U11 boys' 2.5km, finishing 121st in 19:25.

Kai Boggon was 24th in the U13 boys' 2.5km in 15:24.

The Harknett twins, Lewis and Owen, were once again in stunning form in the U15 boys' 2.5km race.

Lewis was second in a fast time of 13:47, with Owen fifth in 14:30.

Harlow athletes also had photos taken with other international athletes including Jo Pavey, Richard Kilty, Johnny Peacock and former GB hurdler Colin Jackson.

STRIKER'S GONE SALMON FISHING

Goal machine Read targets Hawks' goalscoring record

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ALEX READ is targeting the Harlow Town goalscoring record after smashing through the 100-goals barrier.

Fans' favourite Marc Salmon currently holds that record with his 198 goals from 492 matches for Harlow.

Salmon was possibly the most technically-gifted Harlow player ever, and was the main reason why Eddie McCluskey's teams of the late 1990s achieved successive promotions.

Like Read, he turned down moves to bigger clubs higher up the non-league pyramid to remain at Harlow.

Read struck twice in the FA Cup first qualifying round victory over Bedford Town on Saturday and now has 104 goals in 118 games for the Hawks.

Scoring ratio

Considering this is only his third season for Harlow, he could smash through Salmon's record in two years' time if he continues his current scoring ratio.

Read said: "It sounds silly but it's hard to set yourself targets when you keep scoring."

"It's a case of 'I need to get to the next ten or the next five and hopefully achieve that'."

"A bigger target would be better for me."

Read is adamant it's the Ryman North title or bust this season – he is fed up with the play-offs, having been in the Harlow side that has missed out in the last two successive seasons.

"I can't do another play-offs. If we are in the play-offs we have got to win it this year. I'm getting sick and tired of losing them."

"But the aim is to win the league. I don't want to do play-offs."

"We are easily a good enough side to win that league. But it's not always that simple," he said.

"You look at Manchester City last year and you would have said they would have at least challenged Chelsea."

Read, 27, is convinced Harlow are stronger in depth this season.

"We've had a good influx of players but we have kept the main core; we have kept Fab [Fabian Simms], we've kept Layne [Eadie], we've kept Popey [Craig Pope], we've kept [Junior] Daddison."

"And we've brought in decent players. But it took a few weeks for us to pick up results and play better – but we have done that [picked up points]."

"That's four [league wins] in a row. We've just got to keep that going. Keep that mentality and we will be up there by the end of the season."

"The club has got a great ethos and it knows where it wants to go. It's just about us as players getting them to that point. This club is going to be a force."

'We want more Gold girls'

FORMER Harlow Hawks basketball player Claire Gold made her England breakthrough in the summer and the club is hoping this will attract more girls into the sport.

The Harlow Leisurezone club is increasing its girls' coaching sessions and wants to extend the number of teams.

Harlow College student Claire, 17, (pictured) helped England U17s beat Scotland 69-44. She now plays for Southend Swifts.

She is the second ex-Hawks player to represent her country.

Previously, former Hawks player Josh Steel represented England.

Hawks chief Shab Niaz said: "Claire spent a few years with Hawks in the U14 age group and has done tremendously well since then to become the second former Hawks junior to represent England at junior level in addition to Josh."

The club is looking to develop its girls section this season.

They have moved their girls-only session back to Harlow Leisurezone on Saturdays (3-4pm).

Medals galore at Champs

HARLOW-based athletes picked up medals at the Eastern Inter Counties Championships in Ipswich on Saturday.

Alex Hill, from Old Harlow, won the women's A-string 400m in 56.96sec.

She took silver in the women's B javelin (30.96m).

Harlow Athletic Club member Will Snook won the men's A 400m (48.64).

Marcus Hunt won the men's B 400m (49.53).

Alex, Will and Marcus were also part of winning 4x400m relay teams for Essex.

At the Chelmsford Junior (U15) Park 2km race on Sunday, 12-year-old Burnt Mill student Sidnie Ward triumphed in 6min 44sec, a personal best (PB) time.

Brandon Baldacci, 11, who lives in Old Harlow, was third in 7:38.

Other results were: 6th William Bayley, eight-years-old, 7:50; 13th Woody Hudson, 11, 8:14; 20th Sid Cody, eight, 8:40 PB; 27th Holly Hudson, seven, 9:02.

Coach keeps a World Cup secret

EPPING Upper Clapton coach Keith Green was keeping shh about his role with Samoa in the Rugby World Cup which starts tomorrow (Friday).

However, his 'official' vehicle was a little bit of a give away.

Green has been appointed the Team Samoa Liaison Officer for Samoa for the World Cup.

Samoa play their first RWC game against the USA at the Brighton Community Stadium on Sunday.

The coaching duties for Clapton – who were promoted to the same division as Harlow at the end of last season – will be taken up by Green's fellow joint-coach Dean Cutting until the World Cup ends in November.

Green came in when Tom Webb resigned in November 2013. He became joint coach with former May & Baker head coach Cutting at the start of last season, when they guided the team to promotion with victory in the play-off final against Ely.

It's an exciting time for Clapton as they renew their traditional rivalry with the Rams after several seasons in the Essex League.

It provokes memories of the 1990s when firefighters from Harlow Fire Station were on opposite sides in feisty league clashes as the likes of the Rams' Lee Smith took on Clapton's

Mark Kent.

The sides meet in London Division Three North East on October 24 at Ram Gorse.

This Saturday Clapton kick off the season with a tough home clash against promotion hopefuls Lowestoft & Yarmouth.

The Rams, meanwhile, are at home to Old Brentwoods.

Clapton have signed centre James Kildren (from Woodford), back Luke Brewin, plus hooker Joe Parkin (from May & Baker) to bolster their squad.

"Having come up last season our main aim is to make sure we stay there. We don't know what the standard of play we will be facing is like," Cutting added.
